The National Redwing

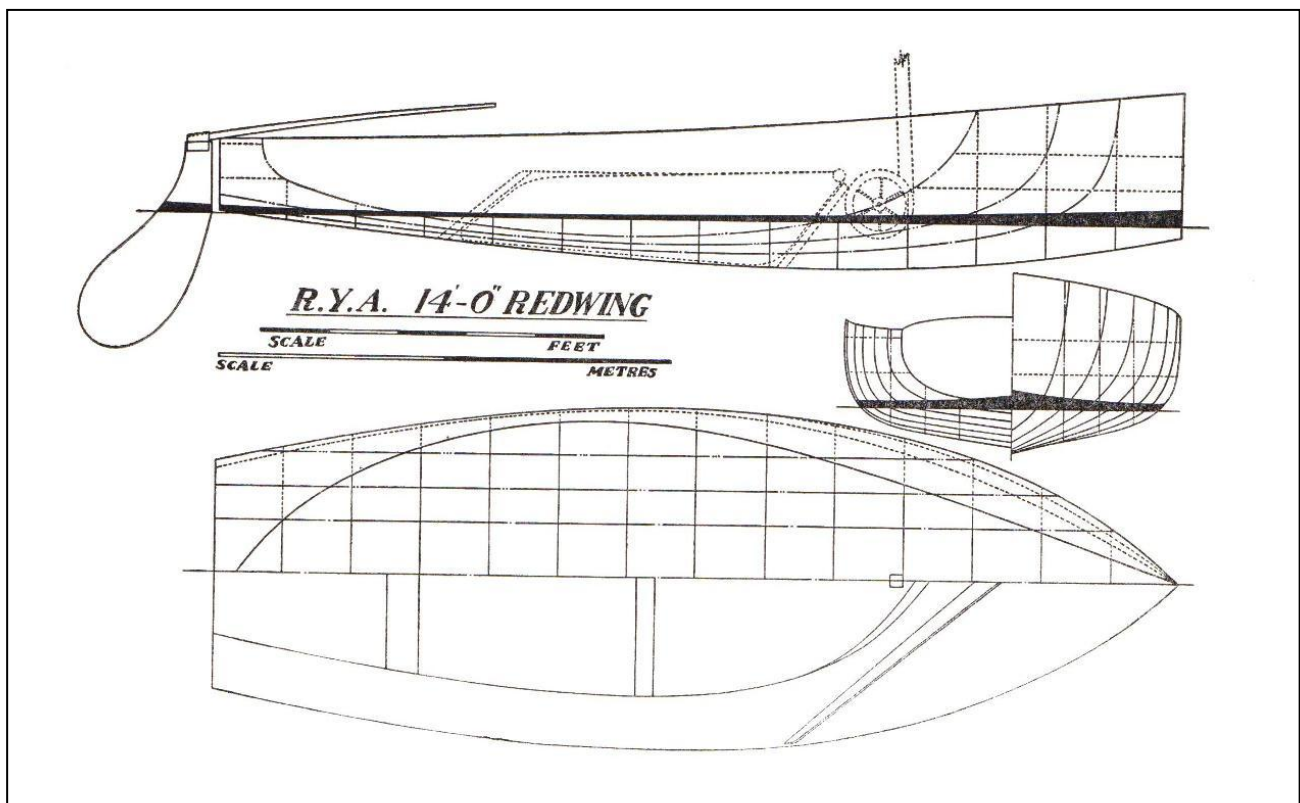

When the Looe Sailing Club commissioned Uffa Fox to design the Redwing it was stipulated that she must be a sturdy, able seaboat first and foremost and at the same time fast and fun to sail. At first the boat remained an exclusively West Country class where her qualities in the steep open seas around these coasts were immediately appreciated, but soon her popularity spread to other parts of the coast where similar conditions prevail, until now the latest sail number is 253.

The Redwing is not a “do-it-yourself” type of boat, but one that needs skilful craftsmanship in her construction. She is built to stand up to any amount of rough treatment, and to last for many years. Boats that are now over 60 years old still race regularly at the annual championships and perform admirably. As a consequence, when boats do change hands, which is not often, the second-hand price remains remarkably steady.

However, thanks to the efforts of our boat builders and restorers, over the last couple of decades there are now plenty new and refurbished boats joining the fleet to complement the older hulls weathered from more half a century of hard racing. Cliff Adams has been churning out a new boat every year for the four years and now has R254 under construction for a Looe SC member. The Association has received a few requests for plans from people interested in new-builds – and some of these are from professional boat builders.

The first boats are now more than sixty years old but with a little bit of TLC even a tired or neglected boat can be given a new lease of life. For example, R23 ‘Windhover’, built in 1947, has now gone to a new home with the new St Brieuc fleet and is being given a new lease of life after years of neglect. During 2015 R19 ‘Gleam’ and R144 ‘Ruby’ have been given big re-fits in the Isles of Scilly to bring them up to sailing condition. Also R86 ‘Redbreast’ and R189 ‘Cloud’ are being lovingly restored in St Mary’s and should be under sail again soon. Two of the pre-war batch of boats, R1 and 2 are in seaworthy condition and still raced. Number 1 ‘Robin’ has been in the ownership of the same family since the 1960s and is kept at Polruan in Cornwall and regularly sailed in the summer months. Number 2 ‘Kittiwake’, beautifully restored by Richard Spiller is a regular at the annual national championships.

Finally, to quote Uffa Fox: “Those who know and understand Redwings are inspired by their seaworthiness.

NOTES

The National Redwing Class is affiliated to the Royal Yachting Association and hence all Class Rules and measurement details are administered by their Technical Unit. All Redwings engaging in Class or Handicap racing must be registered with the RYA and hold a valid Certificate of Measurement. Since most Redwings qualify for a certificate it is simply a matter of writing to the RYA Technical Unit, RYA House, Ensign Way, Hamble, Southampton, SO31 4YA, quoting your sail number and boat name. Or go to www.rya.org.uk and follow links to Racing, Equipment and Classes, National Classes, Measurement & Measurers.

The registration fees are £15.32 for RYA members and £25.53 for non-members.

Please inform the NRDA Hon. Secretary of any change of ownership as well as registering with the RYA

REDWING BUILDERS

Secretary for details of obtaining plan copies and other details.

National Redwing Dinghy Association

“Those who know and understand Redwings are inspired by their seaworthiness. They are outstandingly brave little boats from which we can learn that the sea is to sail upon in a boat in which we can enjoy the sea in all its moods”.
